Let's Celebrate! Read Across America is March 2!

Read Across America is a national day celebrating reading. Read Across America is sponsored by the National Education Association and the California Teachers Association along with many of the country's leading literacy and youth groups to motivate children to read and generate new enthusiasm for reading.

Everyone is Celebrating

The theme for Read Across America 2011 is "Serve Up a Good Book!" Gobble up the spicy fun for some tasty reading and join Miss Billie Armadilly, Tex the tarantula, Mackie the blue-bird and Taffy the horned toad – characters created by award-winning illustrator Will Terry. Get cookin' and be a part of the fun celebration! This year's activities include breakfast read-ins, book drives and chili cook-offs. These are examples of fun things you can do to share the joy of reading. Will Terry has illustrated 20 children's books — his lifelong dream after starting his art career illustrating for magazines and advertisements. He enjoys talking to kids of all ages – in fact, his studio is often overrun by one or more of his kids and their friends and is frequently open to school classes from elementary through college.

CTA Backs Governor's Budget Plan

The governor's state budget plan – including his call for extending temporary taxes with a June ballot measure to help erase the state's $25 billion budget deficit – was endorsed today by the governing council of the 325,000-member California Teachers Association.

Educators are alarmed that, without an extension of current revenues, public schools and colleges would lose at least another $2.3 billion on top of the more than $18 billion in devastating cuts they have suffered over the past three years. The vote to support Gov. Jerry Brown's budget plan came from the nearly 800 democratically elected teacher delegates on the CTA State Council of Education at their meeting in Los Angeles.

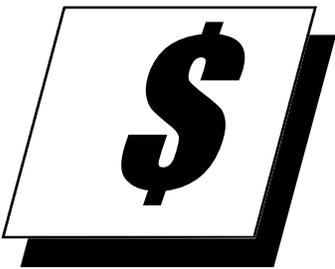

"Educators and all school employees are making a stand to protect our students and classrooms," said CTA President David A. Sanchez. "The governor's plan to extend temporary taxes for five years is a necessary and viable option to prevent further cuts to schools, public safety, health and other vital state programs. California voters must be allowed to decide whether they want to make our schools a priority and start rebuilding a world-class public education system or whether they want a world-class state budget catastrophe."

CTA emphasizes that the governor's plan will not restore all previous cuts to education and does not adequately meet the long-term funding needs of our schools and colleges. CTA supports changes to the state's tax system to provide ongoing funding for education. To start a public conversation about how unfair tax policies are hurting school funding, CTA has launched an online resource of research and studies at www.cta.org/taxfairness.

CTA State Council Elects Next President

Dean Vogel was elected CTA President at State Council Saturday, February 5. President David Sanchez will term out of office June 25 after four years. Vogel's election was unanimous. His career as an educator spans 37 years in positions in elementary and higher education. He is a veteran teacher and counselor from Davis. Vogel states that he is hopeful for the future of education funding under Governor Jerry Brown.
